NZSF response to request for a correction of information in relation to OIA #2147418 – Sharpe Ratios

The following correction of information was sought but not made. The requester sought the paragraph following the subheading "Active vs passive management" be deleted on the ground that the requester never used the words "stock picking", "special insights" or "active management". NZSF's view is that no correction is required as it was not intending to suggest that the requester had used the words in speech marks. The speech marks were being used to denote a term of art. NZSF is happy to record that the requester did not use the words "stock picking", "special insights" or "active management" in their NZ Herald op-ed.
